January 8th 2018: Great Tide Rising with Kathleen Dean Moore

"When the last forest is cut, when the last salmon is caught, when the last river is dammed, we will sit by the river and weep." We are at a time where our environmental awareness has become the utmost importance. There are dramatic shifts in weather, endangered species and huge impacts on our health. Kathleen Dean Moore discusses her book "Great Tide Rising" in the hopes to bring awareness, and change to a planet in need.
