August 31st 2011: BI in 2011 and beyond

Today's BI is reactive, strategic, casual, whenever, and reliable. With the introduction of Social Media and mobile business tools, the old walls between BI users and IT will disappear. Already BI decisions are becoming collaborative, made increasingly while on the move, making BI Actionable and agile. Future BI will be proactive, operational, extreme, timely, and will demand accountability. How can IT help today's BI make the shift and be ready for BI of the future? What risks are involved? What advantages will the new BI offer over the old BI?
