September 27th 2016: Retraining the Brain

Can you believe that you can retrain your brain to improve your focus? Can you believe you can retrain your brain to manage your stress and anxiety? Can you believe that you can retrain your brain to improve your learning ability? Dave Siever is a pioneer in the world of neurotechnology -- brain training equipment. Listen to how using a small device not much larger than a smartphone and requires you only to put on glasses and headphones, can help different aspects of brain function. Hear some of the amazing research that offers this easy technology as an alternative to medication and even p
